

Han Binli
liontuzi@gmail.com
647 546 2725
111 Upper Duke Crescent, Markham, ON L6G 0C8

Experience

2019.7 - 2023.7	J Academy English Community Program Founder During pandemic lockdowns, I observed the struggles of parents and kids in my community. With the help of my family, I started an offline community program called J Academy. We taught kids English weekly during the pandemic. Our curriculum focused on international culture, women's rights, equality, and the empowerment of children. In the dark time, the program brought together kids and their parents.
2019.6 - 2014.4	Haworth Furniture (Shanghai) Co. Limited. (Top 3 in the US) Project Sales Consultant - In charge of managing five to ten projects simultaneously, including acquiring project information, making proposals, designing furniture layouts, bidding, creating mock-ups, synchronizing production and delivery, installing furniture on-site, and providing after-sales services. Coordinate externally with customer project managers, and construction firms, while internally coordinating with our designers, project managers, sales assistants, production facility, and logistics providers. - During a Ting Hsin project (1 million RMB), the customer designer altered the design plan after we had completed the furniture mock-up installation. Bidders were required to finish the new installation the next day. I changed my mock-up design urgently and arranged logistics through a third party (our internal logistics weren't available at such short notice). Eventually, I was the only one to finish the new mock-up as required, so I won the project. - Within my first year, my total sales were 12 million RMB (Chinese currency). The clients I served include Google, Akzo Nobel, Morgan Stanley, PepsiCo, Bridge Stone, Sony, Pfizer, Tiffany, Ting Hsin, and DBS. PepsiCo awarded us the Best Supplier Award for the PepsiCo project (2 million RMB).
2012.4- 2014.3	Shanghai Matsu Furniture Co. Limited. Project Sales Representative - Maintain frequent contact with designers and project managers to develop new clients and projects. Invite customers to our site to experience our products. Select the furniture and design the layout according to customer demand. Monitor the processes involved in the supply of products and their installation on-site. - In 2012, I received the Best Freshman Award based on my performance in Product Knowledge, Proposal Design and Pricing, Sales Skills, and Teamwork. During my employment of 2 years, my total sales were 8 million RMB (Chinese currency). Bayer, Terex Corporation, Schenck, Sony, Cooltech, KSI, and Sino Europe Preschool & Kindergarten were among the customers I served.

2010.8-
2012.3

Beijing Naissance Investment Group – Xi'an Fuxiang Real Estate Limited.

Administrator

- Prepare monthly, quarterly, semi-annual, and annual work plans, expenditure statements, and fund plans.
- Research the price, promotions, and other marketing activities of our competitors through in-person visits and cold calls; monitor interest rates and loan policies; draft competition reports and recommend possible promotions and marketing activities.
- Maintain minutes in company meetings, communicate upwards and downwards, monitor the field operations of our sales representatives, and coordinate all departments to support sales.
- Monitor sales statistics and track customer orders; follow the life cycle of sales contracts until payments are received.

Education and Qualifications

Education

- Bachelor of Supply Chain and Management in Business – Wuhan University – China
Majors: Business Analytics, Operations and Supply-chains Management, International Business

Basic Skills

- Computer Skills: SQL, Python, MS Office
- Language Skills: Chinese (mother tongue), English (first foreign language)

Leadership

- Emergency Management: Inherited from my parents, I am exceptionally calm in times of crisis. In emergencies, I can usually work as the leader to bring the whole team together to deliver the product.
 - Planning: I can manage multiple projects at different stages. By properly prioritizing and scheduling, I can make the best use of my limited time.
-